Detectives Arrest Man in Robbery Investigation

At approximately 10:15 a.m. on Thursday, March 10, 2011 the Leon County Sheriff's Office responded to a bank robbery at the Envision Credit Union located at 440 North Monroe Street. When they arrived, deputies learned that a black male walked into the credit union just after 10:00 a.m. and handed a teller a note demanding money. The teller complied and the man left the bank with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Surveillance photographs were disseminated to the public and to other law enforcement personnel. As a result, numerous calls were made to area law enforcement advising that the man in the photographs was 51 year old Alonzo Hill. Detectives responded to Hill's residence in the 700 block of West 6th Avenue and set up surveillance. Minutes later, they observed Hill place a pair of jeans, like those worn by the suspect, in a trashcan near his residence. A search warrant was obtained and served at the residence. During the search, detectives located other clothing worn during the robbery and the bank bag from the credit union.

Detectives are comparing information in this case with other area law enforcement and this investigation is continuing. Additional charges are likely. Hill was taken to the Leon County Jail.
