Woman Reports Being Attacked

Today at approximately 9:30am, a 35 year-old female reported while she was driving on Capital Circle Northwest, her 1995 Red Ford Explorer began to experience mechanical issues. The female pulled into the former Citgo Gas Station (which is now closed for business) located at the corner of Capital Circle Northwest and North Monroe Street. The female exited her vehicle and walked to the passenger side to check for signs of the mechanical issue. It was at this point that an unknown male subject grabbed the victim from behind. The victim reported that she struggled with the suspect and was able to escape his grasp. The victim fled back to her vehicle and drove to the Leon County Sheriff's Office.

The victim was unable to provide a detailed description, but reported the suspect is a male, medium build and he had a white tee-shirt wrapped around his face and was wearing knit gloves. The suspect fled the area in an older white full-size van. The victim did not require medical attention.
